Once upon a lightyear,
in a buzzing and
whirring rocket...

...our friend Om Nom
found himself in an
astronaut suit,

feeling rather
nervous to explore
outer space!

Three, two, one...

and off the
rocket launched
into space!

When the rocket came to a halt, Om nom set off to explore!

Peering out
of his little
window,

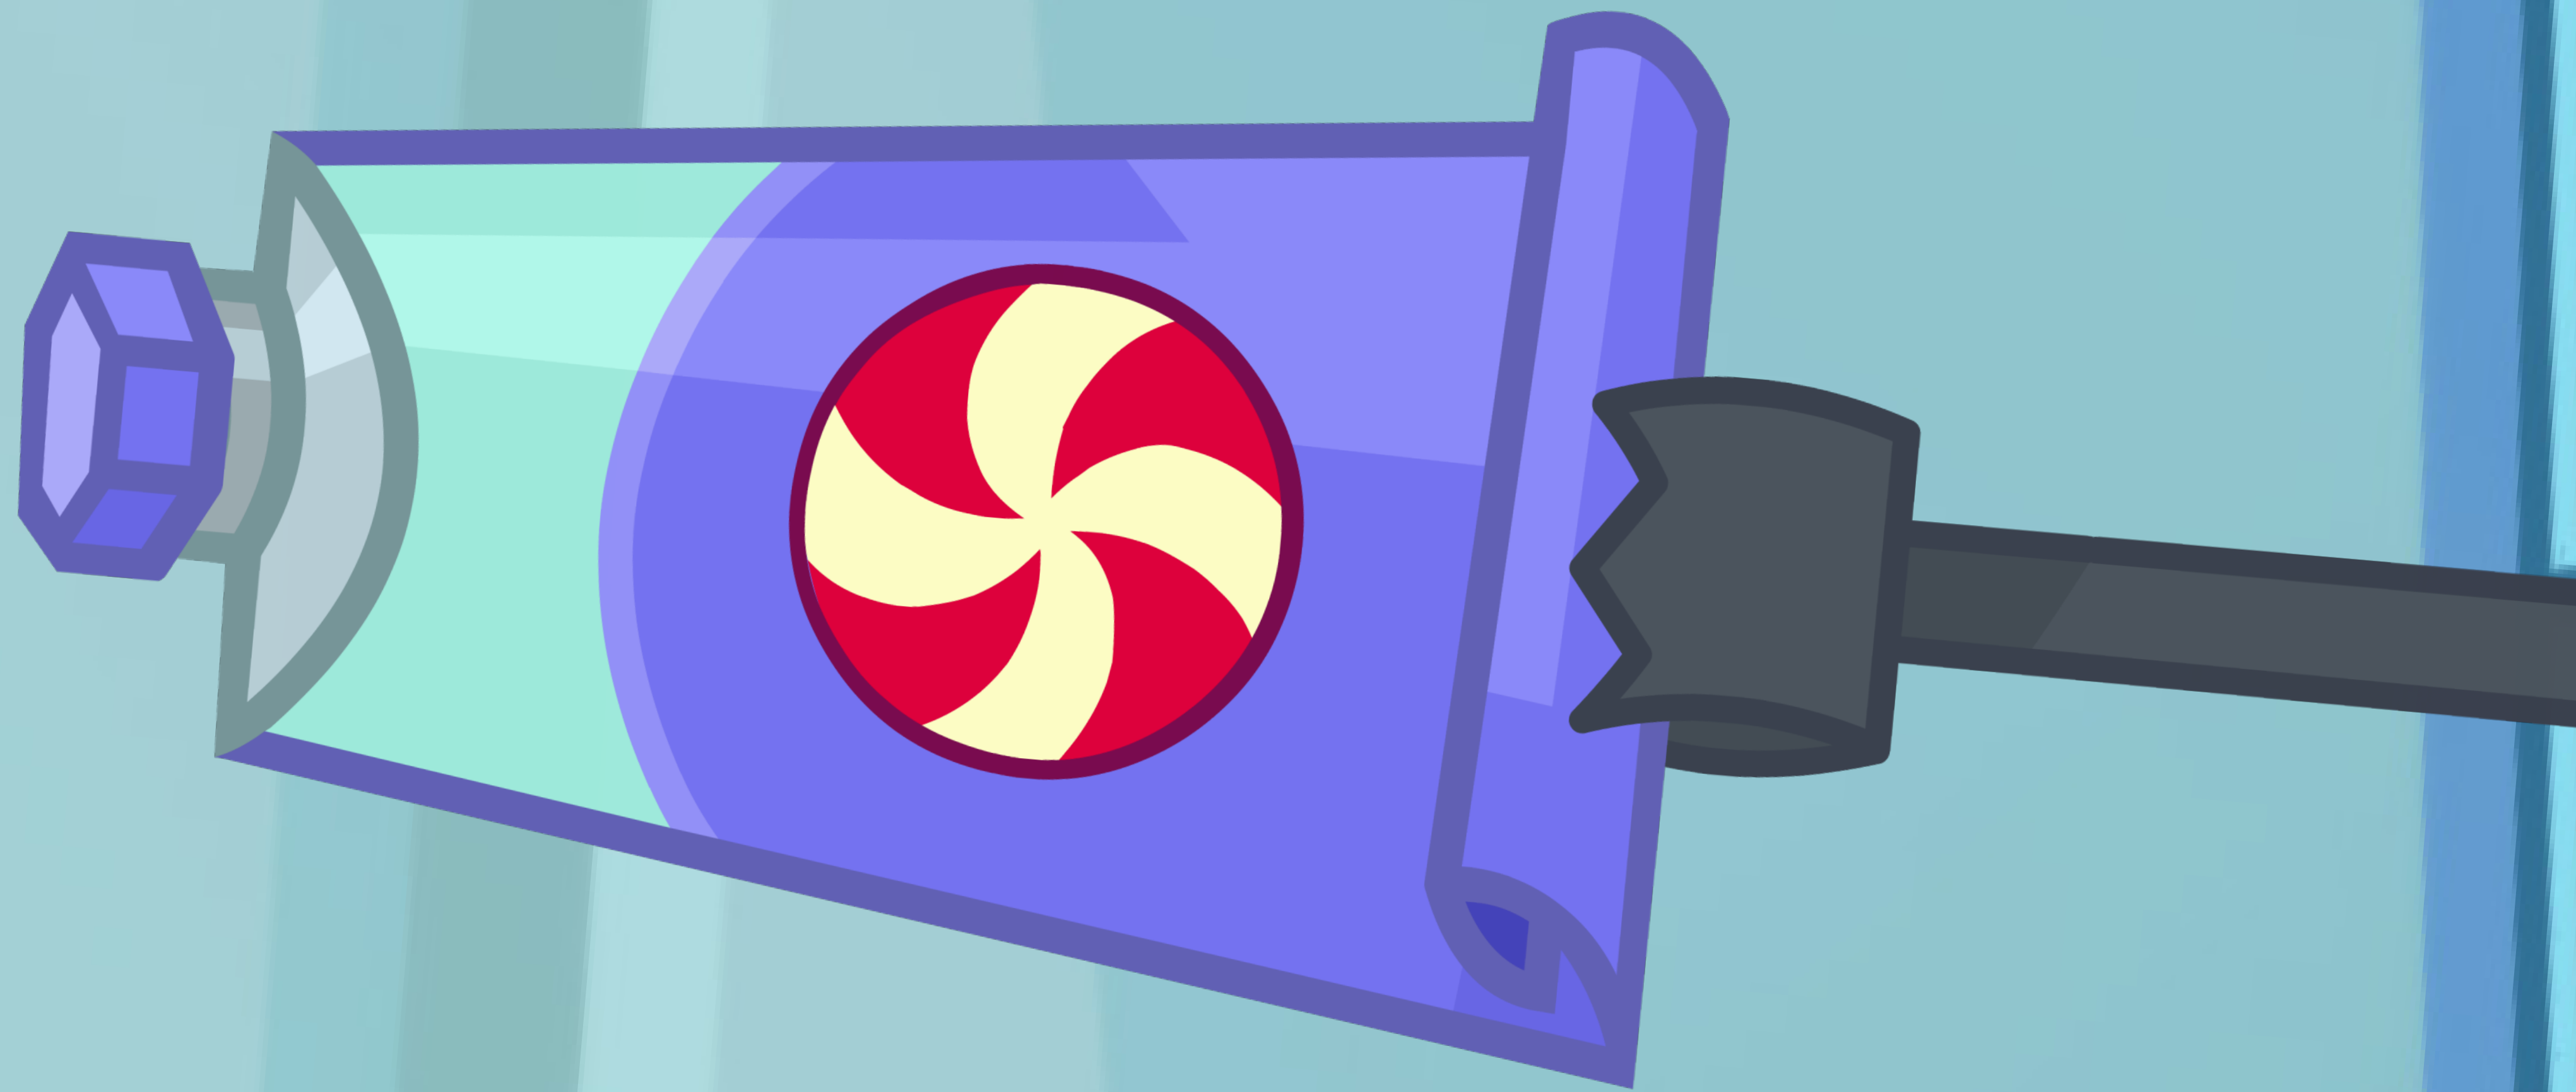

he was amazed by
the beautiful view
of planet Earth...

As the little green
monster continued
to float around,

he accidentally
bumped into some buttons!

My, oh my.., it's Om Nom's favourite treat!

But before the little monster could reach his favourite candy, the robotic hand retracted and the treat was gone!

With hopes of getting the candy back out, Om Nom quickly pushed several random buttons.

but instead of the yummy treat, all sorts of random objects came popping out of their storage places.

Stuck in a respirator, Om Nom spied with his little eyes the treat
he was looking for!

With the respirator on him, he tried to reach his favourite treat, but the respirator hose was tugged on so hard that it caused the lever to move!

Oh No! All the way down Om Nom fell and dangled from his mask.

The lever must have
activated gravity!

A green cartoon monster with a large head and small body is lying on its back on a dark blue floor. The monster has a smug expression with its eyes closed and a slight smile. In the background, there is a large circular porthole on the left wall, a control panel with various buttons and a screen on the right, and a mechanical arm with two large circular lenses hanging from the ceiling. A roll of white tape lies on the floor near the monster's head.

Trying to get off the respirator, the little monster wriggled with all his might and plopped onto the floor with a thump!

He quickly got up and as he set
his eyes upon the treat, a brilliant plan came into mind!

The desperate green monster leapt up onto the respirator, then swung back and forth to reach the lever...

...and bounced onto the
treat!

Hooray! He grabbed right onto it and
squeezed the tube hard!

The delicious treat popped right out just when the gravity turned off!

Om Nom floated around
and tried to reach for
the candy, as it bounced
and changed its shape.

The clever little monster grabbed onto the gravity lever and gave it a big tug!

Making the candy fall
straight into Om Nom's
wide-open mouth!

*At last, Om Nom munched
his tasty treat with joy.
