One day, as Gadgetto was patrolling our solar system,

a meteor slammed
into his rocket.

The impact caused his washing machine to fall out from the rocket and head towards Earth!

In Nomsville, Om Nom and Om Nelle were enjoying a beautiful morning in their backyard.

That is, until a sudden jolt and a loud CRASH left them in shock!

A strange machine fell from outer space and crash-landed in the Nommies' backyard.

Our green friend came closer to inspect the mysterious machine but it suddenly started to shudder,

and out flew a glove and a belt!

Om Nom struggled to pull the glove off his head.
Unknown to him, the glove
had telekinesis powers!

Unable to see where he was going, the little monster tripped over his watering can and accidentally flung Om Nelle into the mysterious machine!

Trapped inside the machine, Om Nelle was frightened out of her wits and accidentally froze her surroundings.

CRACK! POP! It wasn't long before her determination to escape kicked in and the once frozen machine burst into a million ice shards.

After realising that they had gained superpowers, they decided to have some fun and try them out!

With none other than their favourite candy!

Om Nom modified
the glove and tested
his telekinesis powers,

while Om Nelle
froze the sweet using her new ice tiara.

It was on that very day that the Noms became the Super-Noms and swore to protect their town with their newly found powers!

Meanwhile, back on Gadgetto's rocket...

They were in the washing machine that fell overboard!

Oh no! My ice belt
and telekinesis glove!
